REPUBLICAN PLATFORM.

Adopted September 17, 1912.

The Republican party enters upon its fifty-seventh state campaign undismayed by the desertion of those who have been honored with its confidence. It has survived in the past both the open attacks of its legitimate opponents and the treachery of its beneficiaries, and its work is not now to be impeded by those who, failing to dictate its policies, seek its destruction.

The Republican party stands today as it has always stood:

For constitutional government.

For control by the majority.

For the protection of the rights of the minority.

For the rule of the people through their chosen representatives.

For party government and party responsibility.

For the stability of our institutions.

For the reign of law rather than for government by impulse.

The success of representative government is exemplified by more than a century of trial. The fathers builded from their own experience. Experience is a better guide than emotion. We, therefore, reaffirm the Constitution of the United States, and recommend it as a guide to all political parties.

The Republican party from the hour of its birth to the present time has been the party of progress and achievement. Under its guidance and initiative the nation has grown and prospered until the United States now leads all countries of the world in material and moral development. In its more than half a century of existence the Republican party has never had occasion to apologize for the policies it has advocated. Every one of its presidents, Lincoln, Grant, Hayes, Garfield, Arthur, Harrison, McKinley, Roosevelt and Taft, has rendered illustrious service to his country, and with one exception remained true to the principles and policies of the party which honored him.

The enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission, the creation of customs and commerce courts, the successful prosecution of illegal trusts, a corporation tax law, postal savings banks, the parcel post, increased pensions for the rapidly fading army of Civil War veterans, conservation of our natural resources under authority of law, reclamation of waste lands by irrigation, definite liability of railroads for injuries to their employees, protection of the people from corporate control in politics and publicity of campaign contributions are among the great accomplishments of the present administration. Its success in the treatment of the vexing questions relating to Cuba and Mexico, its progress in the construction of the Panama Canal, and its efforts to secure international arbitration, not only redound to its credit, but have commanded the respect of the civilized world.

We have occasion, therefore, to heartily endorse the administration of President Taft. With the steadfastness of a Washington and the patience of a Lincoln he has impartially enforced the law, faithfully conserved the interests of the people, and intelligently discharged his obligations. Against the tumult occasioned by the strident demands of his predecessor for a third term, and the menace of our industrial life that would come of Democratic success, we place the record made by President Taft and invite the judgment of the American people.

As in national so in state affairs, the Republican Party is proud of its record, and finds no occasion for explanation or apology. During its entire history in New Hampshire, economy, integrity and honesty have been its watchwords in the management of the people's business. No scandals have occurred nor have defalcations of any kind taken place, and no real occasion has arisen for a change in the party government of the state.

The Republican party declares:

For legislative encouragement of all enterprises that will develop or enlarge the industrial, agricultural and commercial interests of the state of New Hampshire.

For a permanent business management of the state highways that will secure proper supervision and maintenance.

For conservation of our natural resources.

For continued aid to our rural schools.

For fidelity to all pledges of the party to reduce the evils of the liquor traffic, and for the enforcement of prohibition in no-license territory.

For such changes in our primary law as will enable the candidate of limited means to compete on equal terms with the rich man for nomination. The platform of 1910 declared for the extension of the primary law to the election of delegates to national conventions. In redeeming this pledge we recommend to the legislature consideration of the plan so successfully put in operation last spring on the recommendation of the Republican State Committee, with a provision for the registration of voters.

For a continuance of the policy that under Republican rule has placed upon the statute books of the nation most of the legislation that has secured for the wage earner shorter hours and improved conditions of employment. New Hampshire, of all the states, having been the freest from strikes, lockouts and labor troubles, should take the lead in the promotion of industrial peace.

While favoring all advance movements to keep New Hampshire in the front rank of states, the Republican party believes in a wise economy in the administration of her affairs.

Constitutional limitations have denied the legislature that freedom of action in the matter of taxation that modern conditions demand. By the method prescribed in the organic law a convention of the people has undertaken to remove these limitations. The general scope of the tax amendments submitted by the convention is to provide an opportunity for the legislature to act. Adoption of these amendments establishes no new policy of taxation. This power is still reserved to the people to be exercised or not as they shall hereafter decide through their representatives to the General Court.

Another change proposed by the convention gives the governor authority to veto items in general appropriation bills, a wise addition to his powers that will conserve the interests of economy.

These and other amendments will be before the voters at the coming election for adoption or rejection, and we ask for all of them the most careful consideration.

We commend to our fellow citizens the Republican nominee for governor, the Honorable Franklin Worcester of Hollis. A native of New Hampshire, his entire life bespeaks his loyalty and usefulness to his state. Because of his integrity, his capacity and his leadership in progress, he has been asked by the Republican party to become its candidate. He deserves and should receive the loyal support of every Republican in the state. All of our candidates were nominated at the primary.

As the free expression of the choice of the people, these candidates are especially deserving of the suffrage of their fellow Republicans.

DEMOCRATIC PLATFORM.

Adopted 1912.

We, the Democrats of the state of New Hampshire in convention assembled, do hereby adopt the following platform:

IN THE NATION

We endorse the national Democratic platform, adopted at Baltimore, and pledge our loyal support to Wilson and Marshall.

We regard reduction of the high cost of living by downward revision of the tariff and effective trust regulation as the paramount issue of the campaign. We demand the conservation of our natural resources and their development either under lease from the government or directly by the government for the benefit of all the people.

IN THE STATE

We demand: Economy in state expenditures; an efficient board of agriculture of real service to the farmer; the continuation and extension of the policy of state aid to rural schools; genuine local option; economical construction and maintenance of good roads; supervision of state highways to be taken from the governor and council and placed under the control of efficient and expert management.

Equal taxation without arbitrarily increasing local valuations in the interest of corporations; an absolutely secret ballot; extension of the direct primary to nominations for president, vice-president and United States senators; amendment of the primary law abolishing fees and providing for placing names of candidates on the primary ballot by petition as well as by declaration; the initiative and referendum; raising age limit for employment in industrial establishments from twelve to fourteen years; prohibition of discrimination by employers against members of trades unions; abolition of contract system of prison labor and provision for persons dependent upon the prisoner out of his earnings; ratification of amendments to the constitution of the United States for an income tax and the election of United States senators by the people.

We favor all increases and developments of our transportation facilities that will benefit the public.

OFFICERS OF THE PROHIBITION STATE COMMITTEE.

GEORGE L. THOMPSON, 88 Bowman St., Laconia, Chairman.
HORACE R. HUBBARD, Francestown, Secretary.
DAVID M. BOYNTON, Lakeport, Treasurer.

PROHIBITION PLATFORM.

Adopted August 6, 1912.

We, the Prohibition party of New Hampshire, in convention assembled, adopt the following platform and declaration of principles:

We endorse the platform adopted at the National Convention at Atlantic City in July, 1912.

We believe that the only right way to deal with the liquor traffic is to destroy it, that it should never receive the sanction or protection of the law.

While all other parties evade the issue, we make it our dominant principle. We stand on this platform, and we invite all persons who stand with us on the issue, whatever their views on other public questions may be, to support our candidates at the coming elections.

SOCIALIST STATE COMMITTEE.

JOHN P. BURKE, Franklin, Secretary.

E. B. YOUNG, Laconia; CHARLES W. GREENE, Portsmouth;
H. L. POWELL, Franklin; JOHN WULF, Manchester; STAN-
LAS LARIVIE, Nashua.

SOCIALIST PLATFORM.

Adopted April 18, 1912.

The Socialist party of the state of New Hampshire in convention assembled pledges its fidelity to the principles of International Socialism and again indorses the National platform of the Socialist party of America.

In entering upon the campaign of the year 1912 the Socialist party announces itself the political party of the working class. It refuses compromises of every character, and declares that the salvation of society lies in unceasing warfare upon all political parties that stand for the maintenance of the present social system, in which a comparative few own the mines, railroads, factories and other means of production and distribution and by such ownership force the great majority into dependence upon them for livelihood.

Many millions of people in this country are habitually under-supplied in the bare necessities of life and, as a consequence, crime, insanity and vice are increasing faster than population. It is impossible for an administrative reform to relieve this situation so long as the entire economic fabric of society is built in the interest of a class. This industrial plutocracy can only result, as it does, in fraud, dishonesty and exploitation. The Republican and Democratic parties shun the problem of the unemployed and make little attempt to solve the real questions of the day.

The Socialist party calls upon the workers to affiliate under its banners. The workers must enter politics because their masters are in politics. By the political activity of the capitalist class, it has captured the government and uses the forces of the government in its industrial battles with the workers.

Yet it is not in the police forces of government that capital finds its most effective weapon, but in the courts. Within the last dozen years almost every kind of a decision has been handed down, and with very few exceptions they have been against the interests of the working class in city, state and nation.

This deplorable fact has been proven by the action of the combined political and business interests of Manchester in suppressing free speech and denying the right of peaceable assembly at a time when the working class sought to voice its protest against existing wrongs.

For years past the Socialists have contended that the Republican and Democratic parties stood for one and the same policy—Capitalism—and this has been proven beyond a doubt in the combining of these two parties in Milwaukee and elsewhere to defeat the Socialists in recent elections.

We regard the trusts as the natural consequence of the competitive system and a fulfillment of Socialist predictions. The attempts to regulate these great combinations of capital have already proven failures, because they are attempts to curb the industrial evolution, from which there is no escape except in the common ownership of the industries.

The Socialist party believes in a scientific management of industries which leads to the continual betterment of the working class, enlarges its opportunities to live, and finally results in the entire control of industry by the workers themselves.

Socialism offers the only solution of the problem of the unemployed—the collective administration of industry and the reduction of the hours of labor in proportion to the increased efficiency of improved machinery and organized processes. It offers the only solution of the strike problem to the workers—the full product of their labor.

The Socialist party enters this and every campaign to combat the supremacy of the class of capital, with the ultimate aim of educating and organizing the workers to take over and administer the government and industries in the interests of all who perform useful work.

This, the ultimate aim of Socialism, will be realized when the workers, as the class directly and immediately interested in the change, will espouse the cause of economic democracy, and rally to the support of the Socialist party. In the meantime, the party and all its representatives who may be elected to public office will work for every measure which will tend to better the conditions of the workers, protect their lives and health, and increase their power as a class, as well as for all measures tending to secure a fuller measure of democracy in political life.

To the accomplishment of our ends we pledge the support of any and all persons elected as Socialists to all measures that may contribute to the immediate betterment of the working class conditions, and that may tend to the substitution of justice for the prevailing injustice, whereby the actual workers are robbed of four fifths of the value of their product, while the private owners of the opportunities and means whereby life is sustained revel in the unpaid wages of the working class.

Socialism is not concerned with matters of belief or unbelief in religion. It welcomes the working class, as such, to its support without regard to nationality or creed.

Our immediate political demands are as follows:

1. Non-interference by temporary office holders with the right of free speech and public assemblage.
2. The initiative, referendum and right of recall, the latter to apply to every public officer.
3. Equal economic political rights regardless of sex.
4. The right to persuade and picket during strikes, lock-outs and the abolition of injunctions in labor disputes.
5. Reduction in the hours of labor and abolition of the employment of children under sixteen years of age.
6. A workingman's compensation act and pensions for disabled and aged workers.
7. Social ownership and democratic management of public utilities.
8. An enactment requiring that whenever a strike takes place, employers advertising for help shall be required to state this fact.

PROGRESSIVE PLATFORM.

Adopted 1912.

The Progressive party of the state of New Hampshire, now for the first time assembled in a political convention, proclaims the following principles and program the purpose of its political association:

A crisis has been reached in the political and economic history of the United States. The welfare of the American people, the future of the American republic call for the democratizing of American government and the humanizing of American industry. Throughout a generation, undemocratic political methods and unsocial business practices have prevailed. Their beneficial work has been constantly harassed by the indifference or hostility of the regular partisan machines. Victories at the primaries and the polls were too often, by dexterous manipulation, converted into defeats in convention committee rooms, or legislative halls. The Republican and Democratic parties have proved to be "blind alleys." The cause of political and industrial progress demands an "open road." The open road can be provided only by a new party—composed exclusively of sincere progressives and dedicated to the joint program of social amelioration and real democracy.

The Progressive party is made up, not of former Republicans and Democrats in revolt against those so-called parties, but of citizens of the state and nation who, with every wish to walk the "open road," have been forced against their will to wander in the mazes of those blind alleys which by false courtesy have been misnamed parties. To these citizens and voters, the Republican national convention, national disgrace though it was, represents not a calamity, but a heaven-sent opportunity. Fitting climax of a generation of unrepresentative misrule, and an electric illumination of the invisible empire that controlled its councils and its policies, it is to be regarded not as a cause but merely as the occasion for the successful coalition and coöperation of true progressives in a real party of progress. In like manner, the Baltimore convention represents for progressives, not a victory, but a defeat, for the great commoner to whom the invisible government yielded a battle that it might win a war. The Murphys, Ryans and Belmonts of that convention were glad to concede candidates and platform, if thereby they might hope to gain an electoral victory with the control of an administration.

The overshadowing issue in this crisis of affairs is therefore the formation of a real party in the true and vital sense of that word,—a body of men with like purposes and with like views of the method of achieving these purposes. Above all other political needs is the need of a logical and economical alignment of our citizens on the basis of real differences of political purposes and opinions. From the divided counsels of Republicans and Democrats nothing but inaction can result. In any contest between them, the fruits of victory are bound to be hollow and bitter to the taste.

We, Progressives, citizens of the state of New Hampshire, rejoice in our deliverance from the old parties. We declare our allegiance to the organization and the national platform of the new Progressive party and pledge ourselves to the support of its candidates for president and vice-president, Theodore Roosevelt and Hiram Johnson.

The platform of the Progressive party requires for its realization governmental action by both state and nation. The full power of the commonwealth must be used to organize popular rule and promote the public welfare. The people do well to fear and distrust a government controlled by a bi-partisan machine. They have no reason to fear, they have every reason to trust and to employ a government controlled by themselves. A half-hearted democracy may properly result in a weak and irresponsible government. A thoroughgoing democracy is bound to result in a strong and responsible government. We propose to make the government of New Hampshire strong by virtue of adequate instruments, high social purposes and absolute popular control.

New Hampshire is progressive by tradition. Its people were the first to insist that the constitution of the state must be referred to the people for acceptance. It was the first among the states of New England to yield to the Democratic impulse which overspread the country during the middle period. Under John P. Hale and Amos Tuck, it was the first to rally to the cause of human rights and an undivided union. It was the first among the states of New England, and one of the first in the country, to protest against the corrupt alliance between the corporations and the bosses. In the campaign of 1906 the Lincoln Republicans under the leadership of Winston Churchill were beaten in the state convention only by the use of methods similar to those which have made the Republican national convention of 1912 notorious. Four years later they were victorious under the leadership of Robert P. Bass. In spite of the harassing opposition of the reactionary element in his own party, but with the efficient aid of Frank A. Musgrove, speaker of the house of representatives, he secured the enactment of a legislative program which began the work of emancipating the state from the domination of the corporations and the machines. The Progressive party exults in the achievements of Governor Bass's administration and appeals to the people of New Hampshire for the opportunity to continue the essential work of constructive political and social legislation. We pledge ourselves, if entrusted with the power, to secure for the people of New Hampshire the following avenues of democracy and instruments of social and economic justice:

EDUCATION.

State and school alike must benefit from the closest coöperation of the two. Every common and secondary school should be a social and civic center. The Agricultural college should be encouraged every way to extend its information and its influence for agricultural betterments and general technical education throughout the state.

Dartmouth College under several successive state administrations has received substantial annual appropriations. It is a matter of public record that in return the administration of the college would welcome larger opportunities of public service than can be rendered within the college walls. A progressive administration of the state government should follow in the path of Wisconsin in creating manifold helpful relations with its great state university.

AVENUES OF DEMOCRACY.

A method of amending the state constitution which will give the majority of the people the right after due deliberation to dictate their fundamental law. The initiative, referendum and recall of elected officials, together with a provision empowering the governor, under proper restrictions, directly to invoke the referendum as to a legislative measure, recommended by him but rejected by the legislature.

The abolition of all discrimination, on the ground of sex, in the exercise of the suffrage.

The election of United States senators by direct and popular vote.

The establishment of a presidential preferential primary and, pending the amendment of the federal constitution, a preferential primary for party senatorial candidates.

A thoroughgoing application of the principles of the short ballot.

The creation of a permanent legislative reference and drafting bureau to aid in the preparation of proposed statutes, with authority to make public its report on any bill.

A public record of the votes and the proceedings of legislative committees, and the abolition of every secret point of access to legislation.

The nomination of all candidates by popular vote and the enactment of laws which, so far as possible, shall minimize the power of wealth and of political machine to affect the choice of our officials.

A presidential primary law under which delegates to national conventions shall be elected and instructed by direct vote of the people.

The amendment of the present primary law by reducing or abolishing the filing fees required to be paid by candidates and by abolishing the requirements that a voter at the primary shall be compelled to declare his party membership.

The enactment of a law specifying the purpose for which money may be expended at primaries and elections, and limiting the amounts which may be so expended by or in behalf of any candidate.

An amendment of our election laws to provide that checklists be closed to registration before the date of any election by an interval sufficient to prevent voting upon fraudulent registration.

We pledge ourselves to unceasing effort for the realization of the following program of social and industrial legislation already embodied in our national platform.

NATIONAL PARTY PROGRAM.

Effective legislation to prevent industrial accidents, occupational diseases, overwork and involuntary unemployment.

The prohibition of child labor.

Minimum wage standards, providing a "living wage" for working women.

The prohibition of night work for women, and the establishment of an eight-hour day for women and young persons.

One day's rest in seven for all wage earners.

The eight-hour day in continuous twenty-four hour industries.

The application of prisoners' earnings to the support of their dependent families.

Publicity as to wages and hours and conditions of labor.

Full reports of industrial accidents and diseases and the opening to public inspection of all tallys, weights, measures and check systems on labor products.

The protection of the home by a system of insurance against sickness, irregular employment, the old age,—suited to American conditions.

Continuation of schools for industrial education under public control, organization of workers, men and women.

We favor the organization of men and women workers for the purpose of mutual protection and advancement, and we pledge ourselves to do all in our power to make the right to such organization complete and effective.

The workman's compensation act passed at the last session of the legislature is a beneficent statute. It should, however, be amended to include all dangerous employments; a classification of injuries with fixed indemnities; and a further provision that the recovering of the indemnity fixed for death shall not in any case be denied on account of the place of residence of dependent relatives.

Our whole program looks to the alleviation of poverty and human wretchedness and so to a diminution of the evils of the liquor traffic; but we still pledge our efforts to such legislation as will directly limit and restrict the evil of that traffic, and especially its influence in politics.

EXTENSION OF RAILWAY FACILITIES.

Today a great transcontinental railway, seeking to complete its system, offers hope of furnishing to the people of New Hampshire and New England a much needed extension of traffic facilities. Yet we must not forget that the whole history of railway development gives a plain warning against excessive duplication of railway equipment, which in the end is always, as it inevitably must be, at the expense of the public.

We demand as our right the fullest possible extension of our traffic facilities. We demand, equally, as a right, that these facilities be secured at the lowest practicable cost. If it shall prove on investigation that those facilities may best be secured, adequate and economical, by a compulsory exemption of existing lines and a compulsory joint use of such extended lines on even terms by the Grand Trunk and Boston & Maine railways, we favor that solution of the problem. But if for any reason it shall prove impracticable to secure such a solution promptly, we favor the granting of a charter, with the incidental rights of eminent domain to the Grand Trunk railway company. The choice between these solutions of the problem is one that calls for the full investigation, the abeyance of private prejudices and animosities and the most generous citizenship of our people.

We favor the redemption in this state of the pledge contained in the national platform for the protection of investors in corporate securities, and for the physical valuation of the property of all public service corporations.

FEDERAL AND STATE CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENTS.

We pledge ourselves to work for the adoption by the next New Hampshire legislature of the amendment to the federal constitution permitting the taxation of incomes by congress.

Various amendments to the state constitution are to be voted upon at the approaching election. We especially endorse and advocate the adoption of the amendments numbered as follows:

1—To increase the senate to thirty-six members, to be elected on a basis of population instead of property.

3—To permit a partial classification of property for the purpose of taxation.

4—To permit the legislature to enact an inheritance tax, graduated and rated in accordance with the amount of property passing and the degree of relationship, and to make reasonable exemption of small estates from such tax.

5—To permit the legislature to levy a tax upon the income of public service corporations in lieu of a direct tax.

6—To eliminate the evangelical test and the word "Protestant" from the bill of rights.

8—To provide for the election of governor, councilors, and senators by plurality vote.

11—To provide for the election of councilors on a basis of population instead of property.

12—To give the governor authority to approve or disapprove of separate items in appropriation bills.

FARM AND COUNTRY LIFE.

We advocate an agricultural survey of the state under the direction of the New Hampshire College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, so that every farmer in every town may have at his disposal the information that he needs as to soil, farm management and supply, market and transportation facilities, crop prospects and the like. A system should be instituted whereby any farmer or group of farmers could obtain, at the joint expense of state and individual experts, advice from the agricultural college as to the best means of applying the information contained in the agricultural survey.

The state's policy of road building and maintenance should be extended to include within its benefits every part and every interest of the state. Future construction and maintenance should be placed under the supervision of permanent administrative authority.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Our water power and other natural resources are the heritage of the people. They should be dedicated to the common benefit and developed under state control. The policy should be declared and enforced that natural resources, whether privately or publicly owned, must be developed and used to the advantage

The present law of New Hampshire providing for the collection of petty debts by trustee process is antiquated and oppressive. It should at once be amended along lines suggested by the best American practice and experience.

ELECTION RETURNS.

CONCORD, November 20, 1912.

Be it known, that I, Robert P. Bass, governor of the state of New Hampshire, in obedience to the request of the Constitutional Convention of said state, holden in June, 1912, do hereby proclaim to the people of this state that the Constitution of the state is amended as provided for in the seventh, eighth, tenth, and eleventh propositions or questions submitted by said Constitutional Convention to the qualified voters of the state at meetings held in the several towns, city wards, and places in this state on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November, 1912.

All the alterations and amendments in said Constitution covered by said several propositions or questions have been adopted, and the Constitution is thus amended by the suffrages of more than two thirds of the legal voters present at said meetings, and voting upon said questions.

I further proclaim to the people of this state that the Constitution of the state is not amended, as provided for in the first, second, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, ninth, and twelfth propositions or questions submitted by said Convention to the qualified voters of the state at meetings held in the several towns, city wards, and places in this state on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November, 1912, as none of these last-mentioned propositions or questions, nor the amendments to the Constitution covered by the same, were adopted by the suffrages of two thirds of the legal voters present at said meetings and voting upon said questions.

Given under my hand and the seal of said state, at the council chamber, this twentieth day of November, A. D. 1912, and of the Independence of the United States of America, the one hundred and thirty-seventh.

ROBERT P. BASS.

2. No member shall hold conversation with another during the reading of the journal, or while a member is speaking in debate.

3. Every member, rising to speak, shall address the president, and when he has finished shall sit down.

4. No member shall speak more than twice on the same question, on the same day, without leave of the senate.

5. More than one member rising to speak at the same time, the president shall decide who shall speak first.

6. If any member transgress the rules of the senate, the president shall, or any member may, call him to order;—in which case the member so called to order shall sit down, and the senate, if appealed to, shall decide in the case; but if there be no appeal, the decision of the president shall be conclusive.

7. No member shall absent himself without permission from the senate.

8. A motion shall be seconded before it is debated, and if required by the president or any member, it shall be reduced to writing.

9. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to postpone indefinitely, to lay on the table, to postpone to a certain day, to commit, or to amend, which several motions shall take precedence in the order in which they are arranged. And no motion to postpone indefinitely, to postpone to a certain day, or to commit, being decided, shall be in order at the same stage of the bill or proposition until after an adjournment.

10. If the question under debate will admit of division, any member may have it divided; and in filling blanks, the longest time and the largest sum shall be put first.

11. When the reading of a paper is called for, and the same is objected to, it shall be decided by a vote of the senate, and without debate.

12. When the yeas and nays are required, each member shall declare his assent or dissent to the question, unless for special reasons he be excused by the senate.

13. When a motion is made to shut the doors of the senate, on the discussion of any business which in the opinion of any member may require secrecy, the president shall require the gallery to be closed; and the doors shall remain closed until the subject is disposed of.

14. After a motion has been decided, it shall be in order for any member who voted with the majority, or if the senate be equally divided, any member voting on the side prevailing, to move for a reconsideration thereof, unless the bill, resolution, report, amendment, or motion on which the vote was taken, has gone from the possession of the senate; but no motion to reconsider shall be in order unless made the same day on which the vote was taken, or the next day after that on which the vote was taken, on which the senate shall be in session.

15. Before any petition or memorial address to the senate shall be received and read, a brief statement of the contents thereof shall be made by the member introducing the same.

16. Any member, on giving notice of asking leave to bring in a bill shall state the nature of the bill he proposes to introduce, and at least one day's notice shall be given before a motion for leave shall be in order.

17. Every bill shall be read three times before its passage, and the president shall give notice at each time whether it be the first, second or third reading; and no bill after it has been read a second time, shall have a third reading before an adjournment.

18. All resolutions which may require the signature of the governor shall be treated in the same manner as bills.

19. When a bill shall have been read a first time and ordered to a second reading, it shall be immediately read a second time by its title, and by the president referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the senate.

20. All bills introduced in the senate, to repeal or modify an existing statute, shall refer to the act proposed to be repealed or modified by the title and session at which it was passed; and no bill shall refer to any statute by the number of the chapter of the pamphlet laws.

21. The senate may resolve itself into a committee of the whole at any time on motion made for that purpose; and in forming a committee of the whole, the president shall leave the chair, and appoint a chairman to preside in committee. The president may at any time name any member to perform the duties of the chair; but such substitution shall not extend beyond one legislative day.

22. The last question, upon the second reading of a bill or resolution, shall always be, Shall it be read a third time? and no amendment shall be received or discussed on the third reading of any bill or resolution unless by consent of sixteen members present, but it shall at all times be in order, before the final passage of a bill or resolution, to move its commitment; and should such commitment take place, and an amendment be reported, the bill or resolution shall again be read a second time, and considered as in committee of the whole.

23. The titles of bills, and such parts thereof as may be affected by proposed amendments, shall be entered on the journals.

24. All bills, resolutions, and addresses, after passing the senate, shall be signed by the president; and all warrants and other processes issued by order of the senate shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the clerk.

25. The following standing committees, to consist of five members each, shall be appointed at the commencement of any session, with leave to report by bill or otherwise: A committee on the judiciary; a committee on incorporations; a committee on labor; a committee on military affairs; a committee on roads, bridges, and canals; a committee on claims; a committee on railroads; a committee on banks; a committee on agriculture; a committee on manufactures; a committee on elections; a committee on education; a committee on finance; a committee on state prison and industrial school; a committee on state hospital; a committee on revision of the laws; a committee on towns and parishes; a committee on soldiers' home; a committee on fisheries and game; a committee on school for feeble-minded; a committee on public health; a committee on forestry, and a committee on public improvements. There shall also be a committee on rules, consisting of three members, one of whom shall be the president.

26. All committees shall be appointed by the president, unless otherwise directed by the senate.

27. When the senate shall concur with the house of representatives in the appointment of a joint committee, consisting of not more than five members of the house, two members shall be added on the part of the senate, but when more than five, three members of the senate shall be added.

28. Messages shall be sent to the house of representatives by the clerk of the senate.

29. Messages from the governor or house or representatives may be received at all times, except when the senate is engaged in putting the question, in calling the yeas and nays, in counting the ballots, or in reading the journal.

30. All questions shall be put by the president, and each member of the senate shall signify his assent or dissent by answering yea or nay. If the president doubts, or a division is called for, the senate shall divide. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats and stand till they be counted, and afterwards those in the negative shall rise and stand till they be counted. The president shall then rise and state the decision of the senate.

31. No person except the members of the executive, or members of the house of representatives and its officers, shall be admitted within the bar of the senate, except by invitation of the president, or some member with his consent.

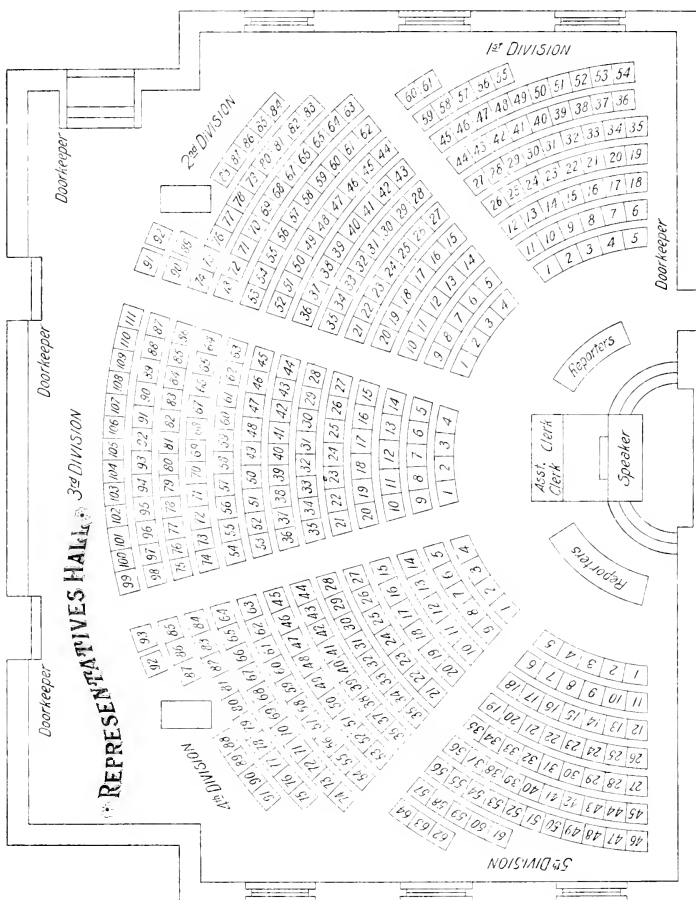

32. The senate shall adjourn to meet at eleven o'clock in the morning and three o'clock in the afternoon of each day unless the senate shall otherwise order.

33. Motions to adjourn shall be decided without debate.

34. No standing rule of the senate shall be suspended unless two thirds of the members present vote in favor thereof, and no rule shall be rescinded unless one day's notice of the motion has been given and two thirds of those present vote therefor.

35. Each bill and joint resolution, except private acts, originating in the senate shall be declared by the president to be laid upon the table, and the clerk directed to procure a sufficient number of printed copies thereof for the use of the senate, and cause the same to be distributed to the members, and when so printed and distributed the bill shall be immediately delivered to the committee to which it shall have been referred. Every bill or joint resolution so introduced shall be headed "Senate Bill," or "Joint Resolution," as the case may be.

Every bill and joint resolution appropriating money, which has been favorably reported by any other committee, shall be recommitted to the Committee on Finance for revision.

25. If the previous question is decided in the negative, it shall not be again in order until after adjournment, but the main question shall be left before the House and disposed of as though the previous question had not been put.

26. When a question is postponed indefinitely, the same shall not be acted upon during the session except by unanimous consent.

27. Any member may call for a division of the question when the sense will admit of it; and upon a motion to amend, a refusal to strike out words shall neither preclude amendment to such words nor a motion to strike out and insert.

28. A motion for commitment, until it is decided, shall preclude all amendment to the main question, and all motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the House.

29. No new motion shall be admitted, under color of amendment, as a substitute for the motion under debate.

And when any committee shall report otherwise than by bill, they shall, if the subject admit of it, subjoin to their report a resolution making such disposition of the matter committed to them as to the committee shall seem expedient.

39. Whenever it shall not be convenient for any standing committee to attend properly to all the business which may be properly referred to it, the Speaker may, on a vote of the House to that effect, appoint an additional committee on the same subject, to consist of the same number of members as the original committee, whose duty it shall be to take into consideration all matters in relation to that subject which shall be referred to it by the House, and to report thereon.

OF BILLS.

40. All petitions, memorials and other papers addressed to the House and all bills and resolutions to be introduced in the House, shall be endorsed with the name of the person or committee presenting them, with the subject-matter of the same, and shall be placed by the members presenting them in a box provided for the purpose by the clerk. The Speaker shall take them up for introduction at the morning session.

41. Every bill and resolution originally introduced into the House shall be expressed in words clearly, so that it shall not be necessary to refer to any other act or statute to ascertain the meaning thereof.

42. Every bill shall have three several readings in the House previous to its passage. The first reading shall be for information; and thereupon if it be not rejected or otherwise disposed of by the House, the question shall be, "Shall the bill be read a second time?" and if ordered to a second reading it shall immediately be read a second time by its title, be laid upon the table to be printed under Rule 46, and be by the Speaker referred to the appropriate standing committee, unless otherwise ordered by the House. No bill after it has been read a second time shall have a third reading until after an adjournment. The time assigned for the third reading of bills and resolutions shall be three o'clock in the afternoon, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

43. No amendment shall be made but upon the second reading of a bill or joint resolution; and all bills and resolutions shall be in writing, with the name of the member and the town he represents on the back thereof. The orders of the day for the reading of bills and joint resolutions shall hold for every succeeding day until disposed of.

44. All bills, and all votes and resolutions that are necessary to be carried to the Senate for their concurrence, may be sent by the assistant clerk.

45. Every bill shall be marked on the first page "House bill," and every joint resolution shall be marked "House joint resolution," and each bill and resolution shall be regularly numbered, beginning with No. 1, and continuing consecutively, as each bill or joint resolution is introduced into the House.

46. Every bill and joint resolution introduced into the House, either by a member or by a committee, shall be declared by the Speaker laid upon the table, after it has been read a second time, and the clerk shall procure a sufficient number of copies, printed on paper of uniform size, for the use of the House, and cause the same to be distributed to the members, and when printed the bill shall be immediately delivered to the committee to which it shall have been referred. Bills and joint resolutions received from the Senate shall be printed at the same stage of their procedure unless they have been printed in the Senate and copies distributed in the House.

47. Every bill and joint resolution which has been favorably reported with material changes by the committee having it in charge shall be declared by the Speaker laid upon the table and the same shall be printed and distributed as required by Rule 46; and when said bills and joint resolutions are so printed and distributed the clerk shall, after one day, cause the same to be laid on the Speaker's table, and they shall be taken up in their order, without motion and disposed of in the same manner as they would have been had they not been declared laid upon the table.

48. All bills and joint resolutions appropriating money, reported from any committee, shall be referred to the committee on appropriations for revision.

49. No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor; nor suspended, unless by a vote therefor of two thirds of the members present.

OF THE COMMITTEE OF THE WHOLE HOUSE.

50. The House may resolve itself into committee of the whole House at any time, on the motion of a member made for that purpose; and in forming a committee of the whole House the Speaker shall leave the chair, and a chairman to preside in committee shall be appointed by the Speaker.

51. Upon bills and resolutions committed to a committee of the whole House, the bill or resolution shall first be read throughout by the clerk, and then again read and debated by clauses, leaving the preamble of the bill to be last considered; the body of the bill or resolution shall not be defaced or interlined, but all amendments, noting the page and line, shall be duly entered by the clerk on a separate paper, as the same shall be agreed to by the committee and so reported to the House. After report, the bill or resolution shall again be subject to be debated and amended by clauses before a question to pass it to a third reading be taken.

52. The rules of proceeding in the House shall be observed in committee of the whole House, so far as they may be applicable, except the rule limiting the time of speaking.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

53. The Speaker shall call for petitions from members of the House. The petitions having been presented and disposed of, reports first from the standing and then from the select committees shall be called for and disposed of. And the above business shall be done in no other part of the day, except by permission of the House.

54. The unfinished business in which the House was engaged at the last preceding adjournment, if called for by any member, shall have the preference over all other business except the general order of the day; and no motion, or any other business except the general order of the day, shall be received without special leave of the House, until the former is disposed of.

PART FIRST.

BILL OF RIGHTS.

ARTICLE 1. All men are born equally free and independent; therefore all government of right originates from the people, is founded in consent, and instituted for the general good.

ART. 2. All men have certain natural, essential, and inherent rights, among which are the enjoying and defending life and liberty, acquiring, possessing and protecting property, and, in a word, of seeking and obtaining happiness.

ART. 3. When men enter into a state of society they surrender up some of their natural rights to that society in order to insure the protection of others; and, without such an equivalent, the surrender is void.

ART. 4. Among the natural rights, some are in their very nature unalienable, because no equivalent can be given or received for them. Of this kind are the rights of conscience.

ART. 5. Every individual has a natural and unalienable right to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience and reason; and no subject shall be hurt, molested or restrained, in his person, liberty or estate, for worshiping God in the manner and season most agreeable to the dictates of his own conscience, or for his religious profession, sentiments or persuasion, provided he doth not disturb the public peace or disturb others in their religious worship.

ART. 6. As morality and piety, rightly grounded on evangelical principles, will give the best and greatest security to government, and will lay in the hearts of men the strongest obligations to due subjection, and as the knowledge of these is most likely to be propagated through a society by the institution of the public worship of the DEITY and of public instruction in morality and religion, therefore, to promote these important purposes, the people of this state have a right to empower, and do hereby fully empower, the legislature to authorize, from time to time, the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate, or religious societies within this state to make adequate provision, at their own expense, for the support and maintenance of public Protestant teachers of piety, religion, and morality. Provided, notwithstanding, that the several towns, parishes, bodies corporate or religious societies shall at all times have the exclusive right of electing their own public teachers, and of contracting with them for their support and maintenance. And no person of any one particular religious sect or denomination shall ever be compelled to pay towards the support of the teacher or teachers of another persuasion, sect or denomination. And every denomination of Christians, demeaning themselves quietly and as good subjects of the state, shall be equally under the protection of the law; and no subordination of any one sect or denomination to another shall ever be established by law. And nothing herein shall be understood to affect any former contracts made for the support of the ministry; but all such contracts shall remain and be in the same state as if this constitution had not been made.

ART. 7. The people of this state have the sole and exclusive right of governing themselves as a free, sovereign, and independent state, and do, and forever hereafter shall, exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction, and right pertaining thereto which is not or may not hereafter be by them expressly delegated to the United States of America in congress assembled.

ART. 8. All power residing originally in, and being derived from, the people, all the magistrates and officers of government are their substitutes and agents, and at all times accountable to them.

ART. 9. No office or place whatsoever in government shall be hereditary, the abilities and integrity requisite in all not being transmissible to posterity or relations.

ART. 10. Government being instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security of the whole community, and not for the private interest or emolument of any one man, family, or class of men, therefore, whenever the ends of government are perverted and public liberty manifestly endangered, and all other means of redress are ineffectual, the people may, and of right ought to, reform the old or establish a new government. The doctrine of non-resistance against arbitrary power and oppression is absurd, slavish, and destructive of the good and happiness of mankind.

ART. 11. All elections ought to be free; and every inhabitant of the state, having the proper qualifications, has equal right to elect and be elected into office; but no person shall have the right to vote, or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state, who shall not be able to read the constitution in the English language, and to write, provided however, that this provision shall not apply to any person prevented by a physical disability from complying with its requisitions, nor to any person who now has the right to vote, nor to any person who shall be sixty years of age or upwards on the first day of January, A. D. 1904, and provided further, that no person shall have the right to vote, or be eligible to office under the constitution of this state who shall have been convicted of treason, bribery, or any wilful violation of the election laws of this state or of the United States; but the Supreme Court may, on notice to the attorney-general restore the privileges of an elector to any person who may have forfeited them by conviction of such offenses.

ART. 12. Every member of the community has a right to be protected by it in the enjoyment of his life, liberty and property. He is, therefore, bound to contribute his share in the expense of such protection, and to yield his personal service, when necessary, or an equivalent. But no part of a man's property shall be taken from him or applied to public uses without his own consent or that of the representative body of the people. Nor are the inhabitants of this state controllable by any other laws than those to which they or their representative body have given their consent.

ART. 13. No person who is conscientiously scrupulous about the lawfulness of bearing arms shall be compelled thereto, provided he will pay an equivalent.

ART. 14. Every subject of this state is entitled to a certain remedy, by having recourse to the laws, for all injuries he may receive in his person, property or character; to obtain right and justice freely, without being obliged to purchase it; completely and without any denial; promptly, and without delay; conformably to the laws.

ART. 15. No subject shall be held to answer for any crime or offense until the same is fully and plainly, substantially and formally, described to him, or be compelled to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. And every subject shall have a right to produce all proofs that may be favorable to himself, to meet the witnesses against him face to face, and to be fully heard in his defense by himself and counsel. And no subject shall be arrested, imprisoned, despoiled, or deprived of his property, immunities, or privileges, put out of the protection of the law, exiled or deprived of his life, liberty, or estate, but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land.

ART. 16. No subject shall be liable to be tried, after an acquittal, for the same crime or offense; nor shall the legislature make any law that shall subject any person to a capital punishment (excepting for the government of the army and navy, and the militia in actual service) without trial by jury.

ART. 17. In criminal prosecutions, the trial of facts in the vicinity where they happen is so essential to the security of the life, liberty, and estate of the citizen, that no crime or offense ought to be tried in any other county than that in which it is committed, except in cases of general insurrection in any particular county, when it shall appear to the judges of the superior court that an impartial trial cannot be had in the county where the offense may be committed, and, upon their report, the legislature shall think proper to direct the trial in the nearest county in which an impartial trial can be obtained.

ART. 18. All penalties ought to be proportioned to the nature of the offense. No wise legislature will affix the same punishment to the crimes of theft, forgery, and the like, which they do to those of murder and treason. Where the same undistinguishing severity is exerted against all offenses, the people are led to forget the real distinction in the crimes themselves and to commit the most flagrant with as little compunction as they do the lightest offenses. For the same reason, a multitude of sanguinary laws is both impolitic and unjust, the true design of all punishments being to reform, not to exterminate, mankind.

ART. 19. Every subject hath a right to be secure from all unreasonable searches and seizures of his person, his houses, his papers, and all his possessions. Therefore, all warrants to search suspected places or arrest a person for examination or trial, in prosecutions for criminal matters, are contrary to this right, if the cause or foundation of them be not previously supported by oath or affirmation, and if the order, in a warrant to a civil officer, to make search in suspected places or to arrest one or more suspected persons or to seize their property, be not accompanied with a special designation of the person or object of search, arrest, or seizure; and no warrant ought to be issued but in cases and with the formalities prescribed by law.

ART. 20. In all controversies concerning property and in all suits between two or more persons, except in cases in which it has been heretofore otherwise used and practiced, and except in cases in which the value in controversy does not exceed one hundred dollars and title of real estate is not concerned, the parties have a right to trial by jury; and this method of procedure shall be held sacred, unless, in cases arising on the high seas and such as relate to mariners' wages, the legislature shall think it necessary hereafter to alter it.

ART. 21. In order to reap the fullest advantage of the inestimable privilege of trial by jury, great care ought to be taken that none but qualified persons should be appointed to serve; and such ought to be fully compensated for their travel, time, and attendance.

ART. 22. The liberty of the press is essential to the security of freedom in a state; it ought, therefore, to be inviolably preserved.

ART. 23. Retrospective laws are highly injurious, oppressive, and unjust. No such laws, therefore, should be made, either for the decision of civil causes or the punishment of offenses.

ART. 24. A well-regulated militia is the proper, natural, and sure defense of a state.

ART. 25. Standing armies are dangerous to liberty, and ought not to be raised or kept up without the consent of the legislature.

ART. 26. In all cases and at all times, the military ought to be under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

ART. 27. No soldier, in time of peace, shall be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; and, in time of war, such quarters ought not to be made but by the civil magistrate, in a manner ordained by the legislature.

ART. 28. No subsidy, charge, tax, impost, or duty shall be established, fixed, laid, or levied, under any pretext whatsoever, without the consent of the people or their representatives in the legislature, or authority derived from that body.

ART. 29. The power of suspending the laws or the execution of them ought never to be exercised but by the legislature, or by authority derived therefrom, to be exercised in such particular cases only as the legislature shall expressly provide for.

ART. 30. The freedom of deliberation, speech, and debate in either house of the legislature is so essential to the rights of the people, that it cannot be the foundation of any action, complaint, or prosecution in any other court or place whatsoever.

ART. 31. The legislature shall assemble for the redress of public grievances and for making such laws as the public good may require.

ART. 32. The people have a right, in an orderly and peaceable manner, to assemble and consult upon the common good, give instructions to their representatives, and to request of the legislative body, by way of petition or remonstrance, redress of the wrongs done them, and of the grievances they suffer.

ART. 33. No magistrate or court of law shall demand excessive bail or sureties, impose excessive fines or inflict cruel or unusual punishments.

ART. 34. No person can in any case be subjected to law martial or to any pains or penalties by virtue of that law, except those employed in the army or navy, and except the militia in actual service, but by authority of the legislature.

ART. 35. It is essential to the preservation of the rights of every individual, his life, liberty, property, and character, that there be an impartial interpretation of the laws and administration of justice. It is the right of every citizen to be tried by judges as impartial as the lot of humanity will admit. It is, therefore, not only the best policy, but for the security of the rights of the people, that the judges of the supreme judicial court should hold their offices so long as they behave well, subject, however, to such limitations on account of age as may be provided by the constitution of the state; and that they should have honorable salaries, ascertained and established by standing laws.

ART. 36. Economy being a most essential virtue in all states, especially in a young one, no pension should be granted but in consideration of actual services; and such pensions ought to be granted with great caution by the legislature, and never for more than one year at a time.

ART. 37. In the government of this state, the three essential powers thereof—to wit, the legislative, executive, and judicial—ought to be kept as separate from, and independent of, each other as the nature of a free government will admit or as is consistent with that chain of connection that binds the whole fabric of the constitution in one indissoluble bond of union and amity.

ART. 38. A frequent recurrence to the fundamental principles of the constitution and a constant adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, industry, frugality, and all the social virtues, are indispensably necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty and good government. The people ought, therefore, to have a particular regard to all those principles in the choice of their officers and representatives; and they have a right to require of their lawgivers and magistrates an exact and constant observance of them in the formation and execution of the laws necessary for the good administration of government.

PART SECOND.

FORM OF GOVERNMENT.

ARTICLE 1. The people inhabiting the territory formerly called The Province of New Hampshire do hereby solemnly and mutually agree with each other to form themselves into a free, sovereign, and independent body politic, or state, by the name of THE STATE OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

GENERAL COURT.

ART. 2. The supreme legislative power within this state shall be vested in the senate and house of representatives, each of which shall have a negative on the other.

ART. 3. The senate and house shall assemble biennially, on the first Wednesday of January and at such other times as they may judge necessary, and shall dissolve and be dissolved seven days next preceding the said first Wednesday of January bien-nially, and shall be styled THE GENERAL COURT OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.

ART. 4. The general court shall forever have full power and authority to erect and constitute judicatories and courts of record or other courts, to be holden in the name of the state, for the hearing, trying, and determining all manner of crimes, offenses, pleas, processes, complaints, actions, causes, matters, and things whatsoever, arising or happening within this state, or between or concerning persons inhabiting, or residing, or brought within the same, or whether the same be criminal or civil, or whether the crimes be capital or not capital, and whether the said pleas be real, personal, or mixed, and for the awarding and issuing execution thereon; to which courts and judicatories are hereby given and granted full power and authority, from time to time, to administer oaths or affirmations for the better discovery of truth in any matter in controversy or depending before them.

ART. 5. And, further, full power and authority are hereby given and granted to the said general court, from time to time to make, ordain, and establish all manner of wholesome and reasonable orders, laws, statutes, ordinances, directions, and instructions, either with penalties or without, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution, as they may judge for the benefit and welfare of this state and for the governing and ordering thereof and of the subjects of the same, for the necessary support and defense of the government thereof; and to name and settle biennially, or provide by fixed laws for the naming and settling all civil officers within this state, such officers excepted the election and appointment of whom are hereafter in this form of government otherwise provided for; and to set forth the several duties, powers, and limits of the several civil and military officers of this state, and the forms of such oaths or affirmations as shall be respectively administered unto them for the execution of their several offices and places, so as the same be not repugnant or contrary to this constitution; and, also, to impose fines, mulcts, imprisonments, and other punishments; and to impose and levy proportional and reasonable assessments, rates, and taxes upon all the inhabitants of, and residents within, the said state, and upon all estates within the same, to be issued and disposed of by warrant, under the hand of the governor of this state for the time being, with the advice and consent of the council, for the public service, in the necessary defense and support of the government of this state and the protection and preservation of the subjects thereof, according to such acts as are or shall be in force within the same. Provided, that the general court shall not authorize any town to loan or give its money or credit, directly or indirectly, for the benefit of any corporation having for its object a dividend of profits, or in any way aid the same by taking its stock or bonds.

ART. 6. The public charges of government or any part thereof may be raised by taxation upon polls, estates, and other classes of property, including franchises and property when passing by will or inheritance; and there shall be a valuation of the estates within the state taken anew once in every five years, at least, and as much oftener as the general court shall order.

ART. 7. No member of the general court shall take fees, be of counsel or act as advocate in any cause before either branch of the legislature; and, upon due proof thereof, such member shall forfeit his seat in the legislature.

ART. 8. The doors of the galleries of each house of the legislature shall be kept open to all persons who behave decently, except when the welfare of the state, in the opinion of either branch, shall require secrecy.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

ART. 9. There shall be, in the legislature of this state, a representation of the people, biennially elected, and founded upon principles of equality, and, in order that such representation may be as equal as circumstances will admit, every town, or place entitled to town privileges, and wards of cities having six hundred inhabitants by the last general census of the state, taken by authority of the United States, or of this state, may elect one representative; if eighteen hundred such inhabitants, may elect two representatives; and so proceeding in that proportion, making twelve hundred such inhabitants the mean increasing number for any additional representative: provided, that no town shall be divided or the boundaries of the wards of any city so altered as to increase the number of representatives to which such town or city may be entitled by the next preceding census; and provided, further, that, to those towns and cities which since the last census have been divided or had their boundaries or ward lines changed, the general court, in session next before these amendments shall take effect, shall equitably apportion representation in such manner that the number shall not be greater than it would have been had no such division or alteration been made.

ART. 10. Whenever any town, place, or city ward shall have less than six hundred such inhabitants, the general court shall authorize such town, place or ward to elect and send to the general court a representative such proportionate part of the time as the number of its inhabitants shall bear to six hundred; but the general court shall not authorize any such town, place or ward to elect and send such representative, except as herein provided.

ART. 11. The members of the house of representatives shall be chosen biennially, in the month of November, and shall be the second branch of the legislature.

ART. 12. All persons qualified to vote in the election of senators shall be entitled to vote, within the district where they dwell, in the choice of representatives.

ART. 13.
